

I SEE THE PROMISED LAND RECEIVES SPECIAL MENTION IN WHITE RAVENS CATALOGUE

I See the Promised Land has been singled out for Special Mention in the White Ravens Catalogue of the world's best books for young people, released at this year's Bologna Book Fair.

Described by the jury as, 'an extraordinary collaboration between devoted artists from three continents' it was praised for being, 'an engaging and challenging graphic novel for a young (and older) audience.'

This annual selection of outstanding books from around the world is compiled by the International Youth Library in Munich, Germany. The White Ravens label is given to books that deserve worldwide attention because of their universal themes and exceptional artistic and literary style.

I See the Promised Land is an unusual, graphic retelling of the life of Martin Luther King Jr. African American performance poet Arthur Flowers tells a masterful story in musical prose, while Manu Chitrakar, a traditional scroll-painter from Bengal, carries the tale confidently into the vivid idiom of Patua art.

This is the eighth book by South Indian independent publishing house Tara Books to be included in this prestigious list of noteworthy international books.
